“...beautifully balanced and a great wine...”

This is a really lovely blend, where the fruit of the Viognier (which appears to be the minor component) shines through and meets the clean, refreshing acidity of the Marsanne. It's beautifully balanced and a great wine to sip as an aperitif or to drink with spicy seafood.

“...an exotic drop with aromas of wild honey...”

Basilisk is an impressive yet affordable wine produced by McPherson Wines in Victoria. Their Marsanne Viognier is an exotic drop with aromas of wild honey and spice. The palate abounds with stone-fruit flavours and there is a slight savoury edge to add interest. As a treat, serve it with a lobster tartlet drizzled with basil oil. The 2006 is also lovely, just a little fresher and brighter in style.

5 STARS

Interesting nose that's both young and fresh and yet developed and complex. Subtle, fragrant expression of fruit flavours on a long palate with great mouthfeel. More aging left in it.
